NEW CHANCELLOR INSTALLED AT THE

Elmer Ellsworth Brown Takes Office After Elaborate and Solemn Ceremonies.

MANY NOTABLES THERE.

Justices McCall, Dowling and Hall, Mayor Gaynor, Ambassador Bryce Take Part.

Elmer Ellsworth Brown, the new Chancellor of New York University, was installed in his office at the collegiate city on Washington Heights to-day with all the pomp and ceremony which have been handed down as traditions among the institution was founded.

Among the notable persons who had a part in the proceedings were Justice Edward E. McCall, president of the alumni and the honorary grand marshal of the day; Justice Victor J. Dowling and Justice Ernest Hall, assistant honorary marshals, Senator Ellhu Root, Mayor Gaynor, Ambassador Bryce of Great Britain, Andrew Carnegle and scores of city officials and celebrated educators. The procession efore the actual inauguration was brilliant with many colored academic hoods as it marched through the Hall of Fame and around and across the campus to the library where the install-

ACCEPTS OST AFTER BEING WARNED OF RESPONSIBILITIES. The Rev. Dr. George Alexander confronted Dr. Brown at the platform, recited in detail the responsibilities he was about to assume and in the solemn words of the prescribed ritual asked him if he was willing, after self-exam-

"I do," said the Chancellor-elect. Dr. Alexander then asked a pledge from Dr. Brown that he would fulfill all his duties and delivered over to him the symbolic torch, the keys of the university, the charter and statutes of the university and the great seal. The torch, elaborately wrought in silver, was the gift of Miss Helen Gould. In his inaugural address Chancellor Brown said in part:

Here is a world within municipal boundaries which is to be a light to itself and to the greater world beyond. Its people in great numbers are entering the higher schools. Even so it is far behind other cities and even behind whole States in the proportion which the attendance upon its colleges and universities bears to its total population.

Ohio, with a population equal to that of this city, has 3,000 more students in its higher institutions. Twenty other States show a larger proportionate attendance. Chicago, Philadelphia and the metropolitan district of Boston, the three cities next in size to New York, all show a higher attendance ratio. If New York came up even to the average of these three cities the attendance upon her colleges and universities upon her colleges and universities would agregate not 12,000 students as at the present time, but not far from $5,000 students.

Henry M. McCracken, Chancellor Emeritus, and Dean Ashley made congratulatory addresses, as did representatives of the alumni and the student body. There was an elaborate musical prowhen the head of the procession from a lane through which those at sity in the country sent representatives.

OLD POLICE STATION CLOSES The closing of the old West Twentieth street police station, between Seventh and Righth avenues, last night, marked the passing of one of the oldest station houses in the city. Patrolmen and offi-cers of twenty-five and more years of cers of twenty-five and more years of experience in the historic place were strangely moved when the doors were locked for the last time and the blotter salimmed shut at the stroke of eleven. The house was built as a residence in 1843. During the Civil War it was used as a hospital and in 1853 it became a station house.

The twentieth precinct force is detailed at the nineteenth precinct station, on Twentieth street between Sixth and Seventh avenues until a new structure replaces the one abandoned. PORTER ARRESTED

Two Suspicious Blazes in the Melrose Blamed on Veteran Employee.

Michael P. McGovern, sixty-four years old, a porter at the Melrose Hotel. No. 170 East One Hundred and Twentyninth street, was locked up at the East One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street police station to-day suspected of seing responsible for two fires discovered simultaneously on the third floor of the hotel, at 230 o'clock this morning.

Thomas Scully, manager of the hotel, called Policeman Bloom and had Mc-Govern arrested. He says that eriler in the night he had an altercation with McGovern.

One fire was discovered in room No. 54 where the bed clothes appeared to have been let ablaze, and the other was in a retiring room, where waste paper was burning. The Fire Marshal is In-
